

What if you had the power to turn everyone off. You simply rub a special stone that you found buried in the ground, and everyone stops. What would you do? What would be the advantages and disadvantages of this power?